

Horse Racing Handicapping Information: Tips, Advice, and Angles for the Handicapper Series

Horse racing handicapping is the art of predicting the outcome of a horse race. It is a complex and challenging task, but it can be very rewarding. This article will provide you with some tips, advice, and angles that you can use to improve your handicapping skills.

Tips

- Do your research. The more you know about the horses, the jockeys, and the track, the better your chances of making a successful pick. Read the racing form, watch replays of past races, and talk to other handicappers.
- Consider all of the factors. When handicapping a race, it is important to consider all of the factors that could affect the outcome. These factors include the horse's speed, stamina, class, and recent form. It is also important to consider the jockey's experience and the track conditions.
- Don't be afraid to bet against the favorite. The favorite is not always the best horse in the race. In fact, the favorite often loses. If you think that another horse has a better chance of winning, don't be afraid to bet against the favorite.
- Manage your money wisely. It is important to manage your money wisely when handicapping races. Don't bet more than you can afford to lose. And don't chase your losses. If you lose a bet, don't try to win it back by betting more money. This is a surefire way to lose even more money.

Advice

- Be patient. Handicapping is a skill that takes time to develop. Don't expect to become a successful handicapper overnight. It takes time to learn the ropes and to develop a winning system.
- Stay disciplined. It is important to stay disciplined when handicapping races. Don't let your emotions get the best of you. Stick to your system and don't make impulsive bets.
- Learn from your mistakes. Everyone makes mistakes when handicapping races. The important thing is to learn from your mistakes and to avoid making them again.
- Have fun. Handicapping races should be enjoyable. If you're not having fun, then you're not doing it right.

Angles

- The speed angle. This angle involves betting on horses that are fast. Speed is a major factor in horse racing, and horses that are fast often have a good chance of winning.
- The stamina angle. This angle involves betting on horses that have good stamina. Stamina is important in races that are long distances. Horses that have good stamina can often outlast their opponents in the late stages of a race.
- The class angle. This angle involves betting on horses that are in a higher class than their opponents. Class is a measure of a horse's ability. Horses that are in a higher class have often proven themselves to be better than horses that are in a lower class.

- The form angle. This angle involves betting on horses that are in good form. Form is a measure of a horse's recent performance. Horses that are in good form have often won or placed in their recent races.
